Contenu:

In this first-year workshop, we will look more closely at the ideas, terminology and texts discussed in the Introduction to Literature lecture. The workshop will also teach students how to write academic essays in the field of English literature.

Forme de l'évaluation:

The overall mark for the year-long course is the average of the four essay marks and four exam marks. To pass the year, an overall average of 4.0 is needed (i.e. an average of 3.75 to 3.99 means a fail). If an essay is insufficient, it must be rewritten before the end of the respective semester. This applies to one essay per semester. If an essay is rewritten, it is the revised mark and not the original mark that counts. If the overall mark for the course is a fail, the student will be required to take a rattrapage. The rattrapage consists of an essay (1800-2100 words) on a new text and an oral exam of thirty minutes that covers the work done in the whole year. The essay and the oral exam each account for 50% of the rattrapage.
