Prof. assist. Diana Mazzarella

Contenu

In this seminar, we will investigate the notions of lying and misleading within an interdisciplinary perspective. We will examine the ways in which research in philosophy of language, pragmatics and social psychology has contributed to the study of dishonest communication, with a focus on both theoretical and experimental approaches.

Each week, students will present a relevant scientific article and actively participate in the discussion led by the professor.

Forme de l'évaluation

The evaluation will be based on (i) an oral presentation and (ii) the student's active participation.

Documentation

The readings will be available on the Moodle page of the course.

Pré-requis

None.

Forme de l'enseignement

Student presentations and group discussion.
