Contenu

This lecture course offers an overview of the history of the English language, literature and culture from their beginnings (c. 500) to the end of the medieval period (c. 1500). We will examine a selection of texts by medieval historians and poets from linguistic, literary and cultural perspectives. In addition to the general input provided in the course, time will be devoted to workshops in which you will learn how to read, translate and interpret excerpts from both Old and Middle English texts. The translation and interpretation skills that you acquire will provide you with a basic understanding of the medieval English language, literature and culture, while also preparing you for the oral exam.

Forme de l'évaluation

A 15-minute oral exam during the exam session (100%)
The same applies if the exam needs to be moved online.

Modalités de rattrapage
